

J R Industries

Shutting out the heat

JR Industries and its associates is one of the world's leading manufacturers of aluminium shutters for the fire fighting vehicle industry. With licensees in 4 countries and exports to 33 countries the company has an unrivalled knowledge of the industry's needs. In addition to their export experience JR Industries is specified by the majority of the UK Fire Authorities.

The Robinson shutter has been extensively proven in service throughout the world and has been continually developed over the past 27 years to meet the needs of today's market.

The Robinson shutter is available with a range of finishes including mill, anodised, powder coated or painted. Every unit is made to measure to ensure correct fit and operation.
